

A SENSATIONAL SURROGACY GUIDE

Could surrogacy be right for you?

A simple guide to becoming a Gestational Carrier — basic qualifications, matching with Intended Parents, compensation and benefits, and what you can expect from a journey.

WELCOME

Whatever brought you here.

Maybe you've watched someone you love struggle to build a family. Maybe you've heard another woman's surrogacy story. Or maybe you've simply thought:

"I loved being pregnant.
Could I do this for someone else?"

Becoming a Gestational Carrier is a big decision. You don't have to make it today. Let's start by helping you understand what the journey can look like.

QUALIFICATIONS

Who can become a Gestational Carrier?

Every applicant is reviewed individually, but there are important qualifications. Generally, a Gestational Carrier should:

- ✓ Be between 21 and 40 years old
- ✓ Have experienced at least one healthy full-term pregnancy and delivery
- ✓ Be in good physical health, with a healthy pregnancy history
- ✓ Be financially stable
- ✓ Have reliable transportation and childcare
- ✓ Be willing to complete medical and psychological screening
- ✓ Be dependable, communicative, and committed to the journey

There are additional medical and screening requirements, but don't worry about trying to determine everything yourself. If you're wondering whether you qualify, talk with us.

What does the journey look like?

- 01 ● Getting to know each other
- 02 ● Screening
- 03 ● Finding your match
- 04 ● Legal agreements
- 05 ● Embryo transfer
- 06 ● Pregnancy
- 07 ● Delivery

You'll work with medical professionals, attorneys, Intended Parents, and our team throughout the process. Our job is to help you understand what's happening, what's coming next, and make sure you feel supported throughout your journey.

MATCHING

You have a voice in your match.

Matching works both ways. We don't believe you should simply be assigned to a family. We want to learn about you — your personality, expectations, communication preferences, and the type of relationship you hope to have with your Intended Parents.

You'll have an opportunity to get to know a potential family before deciding whether you'd like to move forward. The right match should feel right for everyone.

Recognized for what you give.

Helping another family welcome a child is an extraordinary commitment. We believe your compensation and benefits should recognize the time, energy, commitment, and care you put into your journey.

Competitive base compensation

Compensation based on your experience and individual circumstances.

Journey milestone payments

Additional compensation may be provided for important milestones such as beginning medications and completing an embryo transfer.

Monthly expense allowance

A monthly allowance helps cover routine journey-related expenses throughout your surrogacy.

Maternity clothing allowance

Additional funds are provided as your pregnancy progresses and your clothing needs change.

Insurance & legal protection

Applicable health insurance costs, independent legal representation, and life insurance are provided as part of the journey.

Every journey and compensation package is unique. When we speak, we'll explain the compensation and benefits that may apply to your journey so you understand the full picture before deciding whether surrogacy is right for you.

DEPENDING ON YOUR JOURNEY

Additional compensation & benefits.

Depending on your individual journey and agreement, additional compensation or reimbursements may apply for:

Travel and approved travel-related expenses	Childcare for qualifying appointments
Lost wages when applicable	Physician-ordered bed rest
Certain medical procedures	Multiple pregnancy
Cesarean delivery	Breast milk pumping when agreed upon
Other journey-related circumstances addressed in your agreement

SUPPORT

You're not doing this alone.

There will be exciting moments, appointments, questions you never thought you'd have, and times when you simply need someone to call. Sensational Surrogacy is here to help coordinate your journey, answer questions, communicate with the professionals involved, and support you along the way.

We want you to feel valued not just for what you're doing for another family — but for who you are.

COULD SURROGACY BE RIGHT FOR ME?

Five honest questions to sit with.

Did I enjoy being pregnant?

Would helping another family experience parenthood be meaningful to me?

Does my family support my decision?

Am I comfortable building a relationship with Intended Parents?

Am I ready for the commitment involved?

You don't need to know every answer today. Asking questions doesn't commit you to becoming a Gestational Carrier — sometimes the best way to find out is simply to have a conversation.
